"Vancouver Gold" MCD

The debut effort from GO IT ALONE, entitled "Vancouver Gold", is melodic hardcore at its best. Taking cues from the likes of CHAIN OF STRENGTH, GO IT ALONE mixes aggressive straight-ahead hardcore with an emotion that brings to mind only a few in recent memory, namely COUNT ME OUT and BATTERY. This EP has a similar driving, melodic sound, yet the lyrical content and the overall feel of the record is much darker and more brooding than that of its contemporaries. With topics ranging from the horrors of prostitution to the struggle with self image, this record exposes both the grit and the gold of the band's paradoxical hometown of Vancouver, British Columbia.

This is a re-release of the "Vancouver Gold" EP, originally released in the Fall of 2003 by Straight On Records. After the release of the EP, the band spent the winter writing new music, which was to be released as a full length recording on Rivalry Records. With the recording dates only 2 weeks away, the band's drummer, Lucas McFadden, experienced a terrible accident - falling 500 feet off of a cliff in April of 2004. Lucas broke his back, neck, arm, ribcage, and punctured a lung. He also experienced internal brain swelling, a bruised heart, and temporary paralysis. He spent the bulk of 2004 recuperating, and shockingly, GO IT ALONE returned stronger than ever, playing a "comeback show" in December of 2004. The band is slated to release their long awaited full length on August 23, 2005.
